Responses to the Division of Energy Resources First Set of Information Requests

Request No. DOER 1-39 (Electric):

Assume the proposed residential customer charge increases (electric) are approximately the same as the overall revenue requirement increase for the respective residential class. On a relative basis, if the proposed residential customer charge increases are the same as the overall proposed revenue requirement increase for the respective residential class, would this increase result in the Company's customer charges or volumetric rates being closer to the appropriate costs of these residential classes?

Response:

On a relative basis, the proposed (final) volumetric rates would be closer to the appropriate costs.
